REPORT MOVE TO SETTLE IN RAICHLEY CASE

Conference Held as Hearing Before Probate Judge Is Recessed

OPPOSED BY ATTORNEYS

Lawyers Whose Fees Are Protested Said To Be Against Settlement

While representatives of the Masonic Temple Co and their attorneys were presumably in search of the original Burr Raichley will the hearing in probate court on exceptions to the executor's accounts was halted at 9 30 o'clock this morning Lyle G Evans of Chillicothe attorney for the Temple company asked the court for time to locate the will after the attorneys for the executors had introduced their last testimony and exhibit

After the recess was granted Evans immediately went into conference with Marion attorneys against whose fees the Temple company has protested Although no statements were made after the conference it was generally believed by those in the courtroom that Evans was attempting to arrange a settlement and take the case out of court

Against Settlement

The attorneys whose fees are protested are known to have flatly refused to make any settlement or compromise so far as they are concerned the case can be taken from the court only on one condition—that the Temple company withdraw its exceptions to the accounts of the Raichley executors in which the payments to the attorneys are listed

The hearing was to open again at 2 o'clock this afternoon

A night session yesterday enabled Attorneys J Malcolm Strehle Hector S Young who are representing the executors of the hearing to examine all their witnesses. After introducing numerous exhibits when the hearing was resumed this morning the executors rested their case

What testimony or evidence the Temple company will introduce when the case is resumed is unknown

Two Vital Points

Probate Judge Oscar Gant ruled yesterday that testimony and evidence of both sides must bear upon one of two points That that the attorneys Fred L Guthery John H Bartrom Grant I Mowrer Jr James H Lemon all of Marion and A h Hall of Upper Sandusky were employed by the executors for the defense of the will in the suit brought by Raichley heirs to break the will Second that the fees charged by the attorneys for their services were reasonable or unreasonable

MORGAN WILL LIKELY ESCAPE PROBE BY JURY

Testimony Introduced Shows Congressman Did Bring in Liquor

NEW YORK April 4—Prosecution of William M Morgan the bone dry congressman from Ohio accused of violating the dry law appeared to be unlikely today in spite of the testimony developed in United States Attorney Charles H Tuttles investigation to the effect that Morgan did bring in four bottles of liquor when he landed at this port from Panama on March 23

The alleged contraband Customs Inspector Louis J Crawford told Tuttle Morgan informed him was intended for his wifes father and the congressman claimed free entry of his baggage into this port

Although Morgan may escape prosecution the spectacular incident in which he is playing the leading role may have one far reaching effect Swift action to regulate the free entry privileges of congressmen was foreseen as a result of the investigation

There will be no federal grand jury action it was asserted by Tuttle although he admitted the case is not

U. S. TALKIES AGAIN UPSET BRITISHERS

Hollywood To Dominate English Film Industry, Had Just Been Revived

LONDON April 4—The British motion picture industry revived in a fanfare of promises of a brilliant future by the passage of the films quota bill which restricts the number of foreign films that may be shown in this country is on the verge of a crisis

The next six months or year in the opinion of competent observers is likely to see the bottom fall entirely out of the industry

And the cause of the crisis is a magic voice emanating from the screen—the talkies The talking pictures have again placed Hollywood in a position to dominate the British market

The cause of the situation may be summed up in a few words—America likes the stuff England hasn't

CHEVROLET CO. TO BUILD ON W. CENTER ST.

Fred Haberman Jr. Closes Deal for Purchase of Site

75-FOOT FRONTAGE

Modern Agency Quarters To Be Located Adjoining Eagles' Building

Fred Haberman Jr president of the Haberman Chevrolet Co closed a deal this morning for the purchase of a property site on West Center st directly west of the Eagles building for the erection of a new two story brick building this year for the local Chevrolet Co Closing of the deal will mean the razing of one of Marion's landmarks the old Dr O W Weeks residence

Mr Haberman closed the deal this morning with the transfer of the property to his name by Harry V Ammon who had bought the site from the heirs of the Gruber estate This new building will have a frontage of 75 feet and will extend back from the street 192 feet to Holmes pl The Ohio Spot restaurant which was just recently built will also be removed to make room for the new Chevrolet building

Will Let Contracts Soon

Contracts for the erection of the building will be let within the next 10 days according to officials of the company Work will start as soon as possible after the letting of the contract

The new building will be located at 201 203 West Center st It will be built so that every phase of the motor business can be handled with ease and convenience It will be strictly modern and complete in every respect and will embody one of the most up to date used for departments in this part of the state Mr Haberman has announced

The Haberman Chevrolet Co divides honors with only one other company the Painesville O company in being the oldest Chevrolet agency in the entire country Mr Haberman says The local concern began business in April 1912 selling the car called the Little Six made by Louis Chevrolet at Detroit Mich In the fall of the same year the Chevrolet Motor Co was formed and the first Chevrolet automobile was built in the Flint Mich wagon works

Other Cars Handled

During the following years the Habermans sold the Scripps Booth Westcott and Franklin cars in addition to being the local direct factory representatives for the Chevrolet Co They the Haberman agency is the Chevrolet distributor for all of Marion only having associate dealers at Bryant Wallo Caledonia Iuka and Meker

Last year off sale of the company figured the Haberman Chevrolet Co sold 437 new Chevrolets and 611 used cars The present building located on South Main st is only half large enough for this volume of business, which necessitated a larger building

The present company was incorporated in December 1927 with Fred Haberman Jr president Fred Haberman Sr vice president M A Haberman secretary and treasurer

WOMAN STRUCK BY CAR FATALLY HURT

Kenton College Students Unable To See Victim Walking Along Road

(Special to The Star)

KENTON April 4—Mrs Howard Smith 30 of Marysville, west of here died about 10 o'clock last night of injuries received when she was struck by an automobile driven by Everett Suttermeister, 19, Kenton, student at Ohio Northern university, also at 8 o'clock last night, in that village She suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

The accident occurred as Mrs. Smith and her sister in law, Miss Josephine Smith, were walking along the Harding highway, enroute home from a grocery store at Marysville. Suttermeister, who was driving the car, and his companion, Tom Cooper, also of Kenton, claim they were unable to see the women because of the blinding lights of another automobile. The driver of the car will not be held, according to Sheriff Miller, of Lima.

The man, who were enroute to Lima, stopped their car and carried the young woman into a farmhouse near the scene of the accident and summoned medical aid. Mrs. Smith died without regaining consciousness.

TO GET CHAIR

Youth, 17, Convicted of Slaying Filling Station Employe

CLEVELAND, April 4—Sentencing of Lee Akers, 17, to the electric chair, today was set for Saturday. A jury found the youth guilty at first degree murder late yesterday.

The boy preserved an indifferent attitude when the jury announced its verdict after deliberating only 22 minutes. Akers was convicted of killing Frank McCormic, 50, a gasoline station attendant, during an attempted holdup.

Akers' sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, became hysterical when the verdict was announced. Defense attorneys immediately filed a motion for a new trial.

JOHNSON DIES; CHARGE FILED AGAINST WIFE

Woman Faces Arraignment Friday on Murder Affidavit

BURIAL AT FOREST

Body of Gun Victim Taken There Today Following Brief Rites Here

Hal K Johnson 27 West Side barber and World War veteran died at the City hospital last night at 6 20 o'clock from wounds inflicted by a shotgun in the hands of his wife Tuesday morning at 2 o'clock As a result of his death his wife faces a murder charge filed this morning by Prosecutor Alfred Doutt then and J W Thompson, chief of police

Her hearing was set for Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the municipal court before Judge William H Martin

Johnson will carry the full charge of a 12 gauge shotgun with him to his grave His wife Stella Mae Johnson has been detained in jail since the shooting Tuesday morning She was quieter today than she had been since the shooting, but had not been notified of her husband's death late this afternoon and it is likely will not hear of his death until after the funeral

Affidavit Filed

The affidavit charging murder with premeditated malice was signed by Chief J W Thompson

There was some hope of Johnson's recovery yesterday in ruling when reports from the hospital indicated he had gained strength No steps had been taken to secure the shot from his body however

Relatives from Forest when John son was born neighbors and H M Hess with whom he had worked for 18 years said Johnson never complained his domestic troubles to them but was very reticent in speaking of his home conditions Relatives had not visited them for six years

The scene of the tragedy was at the Johnson home at 750 Dublin st John son had played earlier at the barber shop for an hour after closing time and left presumably, for home

Wife Taken to Jail

Neighbors heard the shot and Mrs J Johnson's screams They called an ambulance that removed Johnson to the hospital, with in charge of the gun in his hand The shot had grazed his spine and paralyzed his legs

Later arrivals at the scene called

PLAN SPEEDY ACTION AGAINST PLOTTERS

Ohio Couple Charged with Conspiracy To Slay Woman's Husband

HAVANA O, April 4—Portage county authorities moved swiftly today in the case of Mrs Horace Bryant 24 Akron and Maynard Nichols 25 both of whom are charged with assault with intent to kill the woman's husband, late Sunday night

Nichols and Mrs Bryant, after being indicted by the county grand jury last night were to be arraigned late this afternoon Prosecutor Everett Foote says they have confessed plotting to murder Bryant, who is 31, and Nichols admits, according to the prosecutor, that he beat the husband into unconsciousness and threw him into Wingfoot lake, thinking he was dead

Bryant, who is recovering in an Akron hospital, related that the icy waters of the lake revived him and he succeeded in crawling ashore.

Secret Love Affair

Mrs Bryant and Nichols carried on a clandestine love affair, while he was a roomer in the Bryant home at Akron, according to the reported confession, Fearing the husband might suspect them they planned to kill him, collect his $1,000 insurance and marry, the prosecutor charges.

Nichols asked Mr. and Mrs. Bryant to go with him for an automobile ride Sunday night and they accepted, taking their six-year-old daughter, Claudine, along, according to the story. At Wingfoot lake, in Portage county near here, Mrs Bryant and the child left the automobile and after they had been gone a short time

DRIVES OWN CAR

Mrs. Hoover Knocks Another Precedent Galley-West

WASHINGTON, April 4—Another Washington precedent was knocked galley-west today when Mrs. Herbert Hoover got under the wheel of her own private automobile and took several women companions for a ride in her new car, unaccompanied by chauffeur or the usual secret service operative.

Old Washingtonians could not remember when the wife of a president drove her own automobile. Certainly none has ever driven her own automobile about the streets of Washington, D C

The new car is a dark sedan and has no distinctive markings on the number plate. Mrs. Hoover plans to make extensive use of it.

MARION PLANE SUCCESSFUL IN INITIAL FLIGHT

Ascends to 2,000 Feet in 15-Minute Voyage Early Today

INDUSTRY ASSURED

First Trip Made After New Cylinder Is Rushed Here from Buffalo

The first Marion made airplane was taken into the air for its initial flight at 6 30 o'clock this morning

The test pilot Lieut Col J I Grady of Buffalo, took the ship in an elevation of 2000 feet in the 15 minute flight He came down to a perfect three point landing

The pilot and engineers pronounced the plane successful and plans were begun immediately for the construction of another machine The plane that was tested this morning will be exhibited at the Detroit aeronautical show in about two weeks A few other adjustments are yet to be made

The flight was made this morning after a defective cylinder had been replaced with a new part received yesterday afternoon from Buffalo The defective cylinder ended flights Tuesday afternoon and prevented the plane from being taken into the air yesterday

Wire for New Part

When it was learned that the cylinder could not be repaired here, engineers immediately telegraphed the Kinner Motor Co, at Glendale Cal, for a new part The cylinder was sent here by airplane from the Buffalo branch of the company yesterday afternoon

Flying a Fleet machine Mr, and Mrs Leslie H Bowman, both pilots and representatives of the Kinner Motor Co, left Buffalo at 12 30 o'clock yesterday afternoon with the new part They arrived here at 4 00 o'clock in the afternoon The plane they flew was powered by a motor resembling the one in the Marion ship.

Success of the test flight this morning and outlining of plans for the construction practically assures that a factory will be established to construct the ships Location of the plant has not been settled, however, backers of the project said today

Two Day Preparation

The flight this morning was made after two days had been spent in testing and adjusting the plane Tuesday morning engineers and mechanics took the ship from the Newman sign factory building on North Main st, where it was built, to a field on Fairground rd where the tests were held

Presence of the new plane along the Fairground rd has attracted hundreds of persons Although the crowd dwindled in size yesterday morning and afternoon, it exceeded all former marks in the evening

REHEARING APPEAL REJECTED BY COURT

John Sabo, Akron, Must Die May 3 for Murder in 1926

COLUMBUS, April 4—John Sabo, convicted Akron murderer, was today sentenced to die in the electric chair at the Ohio State penitentiary May 3, after the supreme court rejected an appeal for a rehearing of the case.

Sabo was convicted by the Summit county courts for the murder of Barton C. Painter, on May 20, 1926.

Three times Sabo has been saved by courts stays. While confined in the "death row" at Ohio State penitentiary he has watched 10 men take the walk through "the little green door."

Date of execution was first fixed for July 15, 1926. The appellate court granted him a stay until March 16, 1927. Next the supreme court decided to review his case, and an indefinite stay was granted.

In each instance, the stays were given to Sabo on the eve of the day he was to "ride the thunderbolt," as they say in prison parlance.

PLANE SAFE

Passengers In Seattle After Being Reported Missing

VANCOUVER, B. C, April 4— Fear that a Boeing plane flying from this city to Seattle with five passengers had met with a mishap was dispelled today when Mrs E J Burke, wife of Captain Burke, pilot of the plane, announced that she had received a telegram from her husband stating that the party had arrived safely in Seattle.

An unconfirmed report here stated that the plane had been forced down Olympia Tuesday night and that the party had completed their trip to Seattle by automobile.

End of First Month as President Finds Hoover Making Administration Changes

WASHINGTON, April 4—Herbert Hoover completed the first month of his presidency today

It has been a month of intense activities, witnessing the overthrow of some major Coolidge policies, the retention of others, and, in general, the charting of the course for the next four years.

That there is a new administration in the White House—and not merely a continuation of the old — Washington no longer doubts.

Innovations and renovations have been introduced, and more are to follow as the new regime settles to its tasks

In his first month in the presidency, Mr. Hoover has done these things.

Called congress into special session for the purpose of revising the tariff upward and dealing with the agricultural problem.

Reversed the oil policy of the previous administration by withdrawing all public lands from leasing and prospecting, and announced a policy of strict conservation

Ordered publicity for all tax refunds and abatements in excess of $20,000, also a reversal of the policy of his predecessor.

Started a clean up of the southern patronage scandals by virtually ousting out of the party the Republican organization leaders in Georgia, Mississippi, and South Carolina.

Started the presidential yacht "Mayflower" and the fleet on White House cruises, thereby economizing on Navy funds.

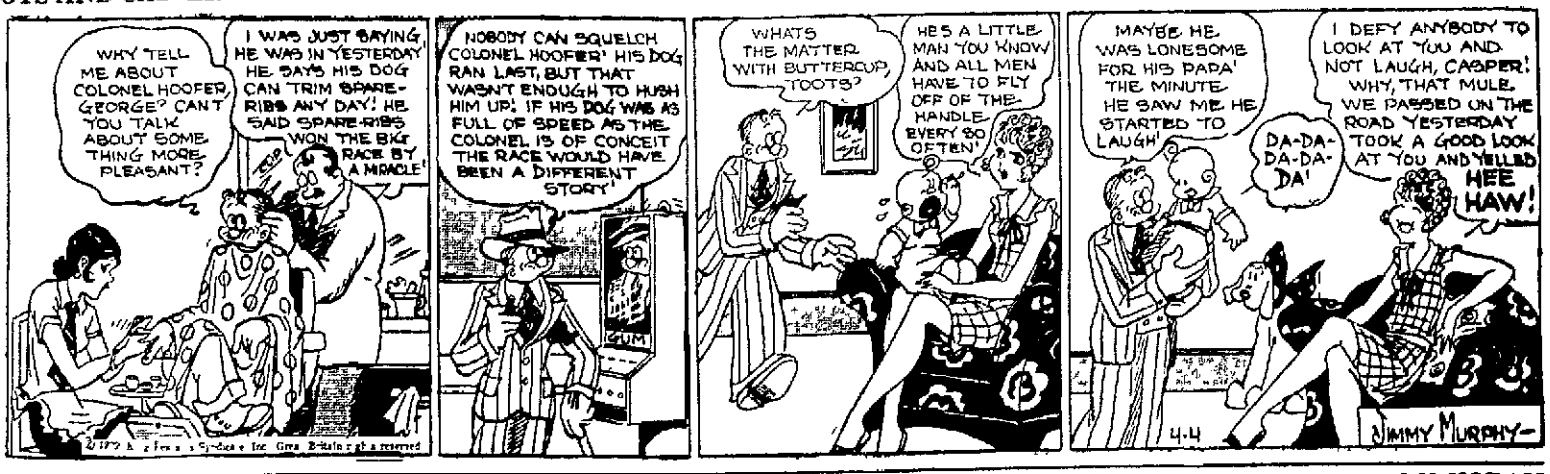
TOOTS AND CASPER — A "LAUGHING STOCK" — BY JIMMY MURPHY



WHY TELL ME ABOUT COLONEL HOOFER, GEORGE? CANT YOU TALK ABOUT SOMETHING MORE PLEASANT?
I WAS JUST SAYING HE WAS IN YESTERDAY HE SAYS HIS DOG CAN TRIM SPARE-RIBS ANY DAY! HE SAID SPARE-RIBS WON THE BIG RACE BY A MIRACLE'
NOBODY CAN SQUELCH COLONEL HOOFER' HIS DOG RAN LAST, BUT THAT WASN'T ENOUGH TO HUSH HIM UP! IF HIS DOG WAS AS FULL OF SPEED AS THE COLONEL IS OF CONCEIT THE RACE WOULD HAVE BEEN A DIFFERENT STORY'
WHATS THE MATTER WITH BUTTERCUP, TOOTS?
HE'S A LITTLE MAN YOU KNOW AND ALL MEN HAVE TO FLY OFF OF THE HANDLE EVERY SO OFTEN'
MAYBE HE WAS LONESOME FOR HIS PAPA' THE MINUTE HE SAW ME HE STARTED TO LAUGH'
DA-DA-DA-DA-DA'
I DEFY ANYBODY TO LOOK AT YOU AND NOT LAUGH, CASPER! WHY, THAT MULE WE PASSED ON THE ROAD YESTERDAY TOOK A GOOD LOOK AT YOU AND YELLED HEE HAW!

Where's Mrs. Gann To Sit? That's Worry and Gossip Along Banks of Potomac

WASHINGTON April 4 — Long about down the banks of sedate Potomac along fashionable Sixteenth street and environs and to the further excesse of Massachusetts avenue the question seemed paramount today in official and social Washington

Diplomatic gentlemen and diplomats dames —their wives avidly so—government clerks speculated on it. Shoppers chattered about it over their chocolate sodas The question loomed as tall as the Washington monument all came down to this

Where is Mrs Gann going to sit

Mrs Edward Everett Gann is the sister of Vice President Curtis and by vice presidential chase his official hostess as well Three weeks ago the Veep asked the state department to rule upon where Mr Gann was to be ranked in the seating at official functions He was either she or she not going to be seated in the place that ordinarily is reserved for the second lady just below the wife of the president

After duly consulting the authorities Secretary of State Kellogg his mind occupied with matters more weighty in the closing days of his administration decided that when the vice president was doing the entertaining Mrs Gann should be seated as the "second lady" but that outside the Curtis home his sister was to be ranked below the wives of foreign ministers

Yesterday Vice President Curtis shattered all the precedents of precedent-ing and precedenting living Washington by officially protesting to the state department and in a public statement demanded that Mrs Gann be accorded a rating higher than the wives of ambassadors and diplomats irrespective of whose wing the entertains

The town is all agog about it

The momentous question rests with the grave-faced new Secretary of State Henry L Stimson whose spare time is being taken up with such matters as the Mexican revolution the tri party protest of England China Japan France over the shooting of the Tom Mooney famine and revolution in China the Root World Court plan and discussions for more disarmament conferences

The same location and the same name but under the management of Spaulding's—re-opened Friday April 5th You are invited to come in and inspect the entirely new stock of Jewelry at Nelson's Jewelry Store—Adv

AURORA DRY SPY IS BACK, FACES ARREST

Perjury Charge May Be Placed Against Eugene Boyd Fairchild

AURORA Ill April 4—Eugene Boyd Fairchild dry informer whose admitted false affidavit describing the purchase of liquor from Mrs Ethel Lee De King led to her death in a dry raid on her home was back in Aurora today where he faces arrest on a perjury charge

Fairchild who disappeared shortly before the perjury warrant was issued on his own admissions during the inquest at Geneva was found in Springfield Ill by a representative of International News Service after officials of Kane county had been unable to locate him

The dry sleuth returned voluntarily to Kane county stating he had not run away and that he was anxious to tell his side of the story

Fairchild bitterly denounced State's Attorney George Cortlary of Kane county and his chief detective investigator Walter Millar He declared Millar gave him $15 and told him to get out of town and stay out for a while

Millar today admitted he gave Fairchild the money but denied that he told him to leave town He said Fairchild said he was broke but did not say what he wanted the money for

I am not fleeing justice Fairchild told the reporter who located him I left Cane a hours before that warrant charging me with perjury was issued

I came to Springfield to see my lawyer

I'm not trying to hide I'm sick and tired of being pushed around by Carbary and Millar There's been making me the goat and I'm just beginning to wake up

HAL JOHNSON DIES OF GUN WOUNDS

Woman Faces Arraignment Friday on Murder Affidavit

police who removed Mrs Johnson to the county jail

The only motive advanced for the shooting was given by Johnson to Wade Reed undertaker who took him to the hospital in the ambulance He told Reed his wife feared he was sending her to an asylum But he only planned to send her to the home of her parents for a few days where she might regain strength from a recent illness

Mrs Johnson appeared to be in a semi hysterical condition the day following the shooting but had become quite todays unaware of her husbands death

Burial at Forest

Short Masonic funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the W C Reed funeral home with Dr B I George pastor of Epworth M E church in charge Following the services here the body was taken overland to Forest where church services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Forest M E church If possible Dr Lamb to go to Forest Dr George will be in charge of the services for the afternoon Following the services interment will be made in Hillcrest cemetery at Forest The body will remain until the services at the church at the home of a relative in Forest with whom Johnson lived from early childhood

Hal Johnson was born in Forest on July 26 1890 the son of John I Ihs and Della Pierce Johnson Both of his parents died when he was a young man He moved to this city when still in his early teens and went to work for H M Hess in his barber shop on West Center st where he was employed until the time of the shooting which resulted in his death

Johnson married twice His first wife died on Nov 12 1917 while he was in service with Company D Ninth Infantry in France In 1920 in Marion he married his present wife Miss Stella Mae Myers

John was a member of the Methodist church in Forest Sojourners lodge No 648 Free and Accepted Masons Irving chapter Order of Eastern Star Bird McGinnis Post No 167 American Legion He is survived by his widow one sister Mrs Lois Cramer one half sister Mrs Tino Gene Hagerman both of Forest

REPORT WILL CASE SETTLEMENT SOUGHT

Harry Merchant both testified on the witness stand yesterday morning and afternoon that they employed the law attorneys when they learned that the heirs in their suit to break the will had retained a galaxy of legal talent from Marion Toledo Cleveland New York St Louis and Kansas City The attorneys involved also testified that they had been employed by the executors

At the opening of the hearing indications were that the Temple company would attempt to prove that only Attorney Benson was employed as counsel by the executors It was thought that the Judge would counter that the fee payments made by the executors to the other attorneys were illegal on the ground that the executors had not employed them directly but that they had been employed by the Temple company itself

Guthery on Stand

Attorney Guthery was the first of the five lawyers involved to take the stand in defense of the executors He took the stand immediately following Smith Merchant had been on the stand for nearly two hours during the morning session

Attorney Guthery was on the stand for more than two hours In his testimony he told of the work done by the attorneys in fighting the case through the United States court at Toledo and the circuit court at Cincinnati where the executors were upheld Later the case was taken to the United States supreme court before being brought back to the common pleas court at Marion

The attorneys first began the battle Mr Guthery testified when the heirs filed a suit in the Toledo court to set aside the will The contention of the executors attorneys that there was not sufficient diversity of citizenship shown on the part of the heirs to maintain the case in that court was upheld giving them their first victory

Mr Guthery declared on the stand that in his opinion the will would have been set aside had the heirs been able to maintain the case in the United States court He also stated that he believed the same thing would have happened had the case gone to the jury in the Wyandot county probate court where it was finally settled

Would Have Lost All

Had the will been set aside Mr Guthery pointed out none of the legacies of which the Temple company is the most interested would have received a penny from the Harris estate

Attorneys for the executors introduced as exhibits all the papers and documents in the court battles which extended over a period of nearly five years He exhibits made a formal list of the principal papers as they lay in the court stenographers desk The list of the exhibits was [illegible] with the work [illegible] and had been [illegible]

Explains Fees

At the [illegible] session the executors took the witness stand and were qualified as experts to give testimony in regard to the reasonableness or unreasonableness of the various fees Mr Guthery testified that a fee of $40 000 for the six attorneys would not have been unreasonable in this case He also stated that the $75 000 received by the attorneys was less than 1 per cent of the total amount involved in the litigation

It is rare instances he declared do attorneys take cases of this kind under 25 per cent of the total

The hearing dragged through the day and night yesterday in a more or less tedious and uninteresting fashion only on rare occasions was there anything to be a laugh from court room fans

A laugh arose from the audience a few minutes when Mr Smith was asked if the case had caused any public comment He answered Yes and it is still going

At one time Hue Attorney Evans for the Temple company refused to continue with his cross examination until he received an apology from Attorney Stoltz for the executors for statements made in an argument across the counsel table The argument here was cleared however when Judge Geist ordered Evans to continue with his questioning

A last minute change in counsel for the Temple company was revealed yesterday when Attorney Evans appeared at the courtroom to represent the Duke in the litigation Since the resignation to the executors accounts were drawn by Attorney Charles Pretzman of Columbus it was expected that he would handle the case at the hearing

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild, vegetable compound. It can not form the most delicate system, and is not a habit-forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and Youngsters love it. It also has given Thousands of testimonials have written to that effect.

Daily Proverb—"Show me a man without a spot and I'll show you a maid without a fault."

Well, it long has been suspected that sentiment up in Wisconsin was a bit moist.

Chicago bankers have loaned the schools up there $40,000,000. It certainly takes an awful lot of money to make the "America First" move go in an educational way.

It is often the case that somebody drinks the evidence in prohibition enforcement cases, but the commander of the revenue cutter, Dexter, seems to have sunk all of it in the case of the "I'm Alone."

The names of four more members of the Illinois legislature have been found on the payroll of the Chicago sanitary district. The outside world is beginning to understand why Illinois is called the Sucker state.

Governor Cooper having signed the Cramer-Gillon bill—the Ohio Baumes law—it will go into effect in ninety days, after which it will be up to all Buckeyes to exercise the greatest care that their fourth conviction is not for one of the major felonies specified in the measure.

A man out on the California coast died as the result of attempting to drink ten gallons of wine at one sitting. Why wouldn't it have been a lot simpler and less expensive to drown himself by jumping into the ocean?

And now the informer implicated in the killing of Mrs. De King out in Aurora, Illinois, has fled to escape a charge of having committed perjury in making the affidavit for the warrant on the strength of which the De King home was entered. The entire case from first to last is not one of which the country may be proud.

A patron of a Chicago movie house has received $300 compensation for being thrown out because he laughed during the progress of a solemn film. The movie people seemingly can not understand that until they work a revolution in their productions, some people are bound to consider all of them funny.

This may be said for the New Orleans man who purchased a coffin, went to the cemetery to select a tomb to accommodate it and then returned to the undertaking establishment to shoot himself; he was a regular glutton for attending to details.

Interstate commerce commission figures show that 2,568 persons lost their lives at highway grade crossings in 1928, while 6,667 were injured, an increase of 197 deaths and fifty-four injuries over the preceding year. The report makes no mention of damage done to railroad motive power.

Removing Menaces to Pedestrians.

Citizens who for the past six or eight months have been compelled to exercise more than ordinary care in passing over broken or displaced gutter covers at the intersections of streets on which the cast-iron covers have been utilized were more decidedly, although very pleasantly, surprised a day or two ago to note that the city authorities had begun the work of removing the covers and the abutments in the streets and making the street crossing conform to the general contour of the street paving.

As a footway, the covers were ideal so long as they were in good condition and in position, but they were easily broken and easily displaced, in either of which cases they became menaces. Even under the best of conditions they were not satisfactory, for wherever one was placed it lessened the width of the street for vehicular traffic by two feet, which meant four feet less of roadway, for one was placed on each side of the street. Experience demonstrated, also, that they were dirt catchers, as the street cleaners did not make a practice of cleaning the rubbish out from under them. It was realized, too, by the city authorities that the covers would interfere not a little with the work of street-sweeping when the new system of sweeping the streets is put into operation, in the very near future. Hence the decision to make the changes now being made.

We have taken occasion to call attention at intervals on this page to the negligence of the city in permitting these menaces to remain in the streets. In every one of them lurked the possibility of a damage suit against the city. The work of remedying these dangerous conditions has been long delayed, but it has been started at last and, we are glad to say, is being splendidly performed. It is not being made a matter of repair, but rather a matter of reconstruction. When completed, the street crossings, all things considered, will be in better condition than they ever were before. Thus, in the end, the public will fare better than it might have fared had nothing more than the replacing of the old covers with new ones been done.

No Longer the Thing.

Some weeks ago word came from London that there was a marked decrease in drinking at social affairs, not only there, but also in the various cities of the English provinces.

It begins to look as though what is true of England is also becoming true in this country. From a number of our large cities have come reports to the effect that drinking at society events was becoming markedly less general; that the very highest class of citizen-ship was showing a manifest inclination to heed the appeal voiced by President Hoover in his inaugural address, that they aid law enforcement by setting an example of law observance. Even in New York, which is generally regarded as more than ordinarily wet, the most exclusive society circles are said to be evidencing a change by extending wineless hospitality. New Yorkers of the highest standing, people of culture and refinement, are now inclined to look upon the serving of liquor at social affairs as not the thing. The same is said to be true in Chicago. Her best citizens are showing respect for the prohibition law and giving it the force of their example.

A few days ago report came out from Washington of an unusually brilliant social affair at which not a drop of intoxicating liquor was served, and there is said to have been very general agreement on the part of the almost 200 guests—really notable people of the city and the land—that it was one of the most thoroughly enjoyable social events ever given in the national capital.

There can be little doubt but what Mr. Hoover's suggestion, appeal—call it what you will—to the country is bearing fruit. It has caused people to realize that they were aiding and abetting lawlessness, which is today the greatest menace to the land. It has caused thousands to realize that defiance of law is undermining the government, and that they can not afford to be parties to the undermining. The public—the thinking public—has begun to realize that law to be binding and effective must bind all alike, and that every offense against one law is an offense against all law. They are beginning to realize that, if law, and order, and peace, are to be enjoyed, they can be enjoyed only under the protection of the law, and that it is the province of none to say what law is to be obeyed and what law defied.

In a word, there are countless thousands who have come, of late, to realization of the fact that what they may deem a bad law can not be cured by defiance of it; that there is a legal way of escaping from under the operation of such a law, and that the legal course by which to escape it is the only one which may safely be followed.

Meanwhile, no matter what may be the final outcome of the prohibition law, the social worlds of the greater centers are seemingly inclined, despite the many abuses which have been worked under it, some of which have shocked the entire land, to abide by and respect the law so long as it is the law, and by so doing they can not do other than profit, for no matter what the champions of wetness may claim, the excesses of social drinking have, by example to others and effect on the drinkers alike, become a curse to the land.

The chasing and boarding of the private yacht of Stuyvesant Fish, in New York harbor, is another straw to show that the safest place for a private yacht in these Volsteadian days is a foreign harbor.

It's all in the way one looks at the thing. Were we Congressman Morgan we believe we would be more inclined to assume responsibility for four bottles of liquor illegally brought into the country than have responsibility placed upon our wife.

The Ohio Bell Telephone company has filed with the state utility commission a $13,000,000 bond for the protection of patrons who have paid advanced rates collected under the Peace law. It's our guess that if the thirteen hoodoo works in this case, the patrons will be the ones to consider thirteen unlucky.

The storm of last Monday, in addition to sweeping thirteen states down here, taking eleven lives and causing great property damage, caused a property loss in Canada of over $1,000,000, which is our idea of a mighty poor April fool joke for the weather people to put over on humanity.

Those responsible for the Blunderbuss, the student publication of the University of Texas, are threatened with arrest on a charge of printing and distributing obscene literature as a result of having published the sex questionnaire sent to co-eds by three University of Missouri professors. Which again brings up the old question, "Does a college education pay?"

The Imperial Airways Limited carried its 100,000th passenger on Easter over its London-to-Paris route, which was inaugurated in 1924, and it claims that no fare-paying passenger has suffered injury on that route during the last four years, which it compares with the holiday death roll on the British highways, on which sixty persons were killed over the week-end. Maybe it might not be a half-bad scheme for the true aristocrats of the land to take to the air.

One of the sponsors of the famous Scopes money trial at Dayton, Tennessee, has revealed that it was fostered by the Progressive club of that place as a "mere publicity stunt." The club possibly went on the theory that any old kind of advertising was better than no advertising at all.

The research secretary of the board of temperance and prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church reports, as the result of a careful survey made by him, that gambling of all kinds is being conducted in the cities of Florida. The first thing we know, we will be told of experiments to determine whether or no a duck will swim.

GETTING THINGS READY FOR THE BAKER.

For an Unconscious Person.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

At some time or other you may be called upon to give first aid to a person who is having a fit or has fallen in a faint. What are you to do? You feel you must do something, but just what is it?

There are several causes for loss of consciousness. The most common is an ordinary "fainting spell." Lots of people have a tendency to faint and do so on the slightest provocation. More than any similar trouble, this is the one you are likely to witness.

In apoplexy, the victim may fall to the ground absolutely unconscious. This sounds like a faint, doesn't it? But, as I shall show you shortly, it is not difficult to recognize the difference.

There is also the loss of consciousness due to poisoning. This may be caused by a poison taken into the stomach, or it may come from the absorption of poisons generated within the body. Alcohol is a common example of the one, and what the doctors call "uremic poisoning" is a form of the other type.

How are you to tell whether the case is a fainting spell or is due to apoplexy? If you will consider the cause of each there will be no difficulty.

Fainting is due to the effects of a sudden emotion or other cause upon the action of the heart. It is slowed up in its activity. It does not beat with sufficient force to send the blood through the body and into the brain. The skin is blanched and cold. The face is white, like wax. There is a dead look, the pulse is so faint it can not be felt and the breathing is very, very slow.

In apoplexy and in the more common poisonings, the brain is filled with blood. The face is flushed, almost purple in color, perhaps. The breathing is noisy, possibly snoring in its nature. The pulse is slow and full.

Have I told you enough to make clear what you should do? Since there is not enough blood in the brain, when the patient is in a faint, your effort should be to help nature to supply that vital organ. To do this you must call upon gravity to help.

Place the patient on the floor or on a sofa. Raise the legs and hips. Keep the head very low and the feet high. In this position the blood naturally gravitates to the brain.

Just exactly the opposite is the treatment to give the person who has a flushed face and congestion of the brain. It should be your effort to get the blood out of the head.

Raise the head, shoulders and upper part of the body. Keep the hips and legs low. Call on gravity here, but with the idea of drawing the blood from the brain.

The person in a faint is cold and clammy. Cover him up, but permit lots of fresh air to reach his face.

Never try to pour whisky or other stimulant down the throat of an unconscious person. You may actually drown him, by getting the liquid into the lungs instead of the stomach.

If there is not a total loss of consciousness, a fainting person will be benefitted by a stimulant. But in its absence, the simple things I have suggested will be helpful always and never harmful.

This is all the layman can do to advantage. You will send somebody for the doctor who will arrive in time to give appropriate medical treatment.

Editorial Opinion.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET.

Senator Glass, of Virginia, formerly secretary of the treasury, who is one of the authors of the federal reserve law, vigorously assails certain New York bankers, and especially President Mitchell, of the National City bank in New York, a director of the federal reserve bank of that city, for coming to the rescue of stock speculators by lending millions of dollars to relieve an acute monetary stringency. According to Senator Glass, these bankers wilfully or thoughtlessly thwarted the wise policy of the federal reserve board in endeavoring to curb frenzied speculation and thus safeguard the country's industrial and commercial stability.

The Virginia senator, it appears, would have let Wall street and its hosts of patrons suffer all the consequences of tight money or no money. Further, he does not seem to believe that a crisis in the stock market, accompanied by a sudden and drastic deflation of prices of securities, would react unfavorably on the general business situation. That view is not shared by all conservative financiers and economists of the country.

Deflation, carried too far, might engender panic conditions and extend to commodities, wages and prices. It is axiomatic that confidence is an essential basis of prosperity, and confidence, or the lack of it, is not always or necessarily the result of intellectual processes.

Bankers who supplied funds to the stock market at rates of interest as high as fifteen and twenty per cent, sought to prevent a collapse of public confidence, demoralization in spheres remotely connected, if at all, with stock values. It is not clear that they intended to counteract the policies of the federal reserve board, or that the measures taken by them threaten pernicious consequences.

If Senator Glass and his fellow-lawmakers can devise safe legislation against the improper diversion of credit into speculative channels they most assuredly should do so. However, to define speculation in a way to distinguish it infallibly from investment is anything but easy. Crude and arbitrary legislation on the subject would be likely to do far more harm than good.—Chicago News.

THE PRESIDENTIAL INFINITIVE.

"The purpose and scope of the law enforcement commission," says Mr. Hoover, "is to critically consider the entire federal machinery of justice."

Shudder, ye precisians! Write to the White House, as you do to the newspapers, whenever an adverb slops in between the beginning and end of an infinitive, and demand another commission to enforce the laws of grammar! You will get as far as you would have with Thomas Jefferson, whose contempt for grammatical nonessentials was as profound as his abhorrence of other restrictions on human liberty.

When we ousted monarchy, we rid ourselves of "the king's English." A single standard of correct and divinely sanctioned language was intolerable among a people dedicated to freedom of speech. We choose our presidents, whereas kings are inherited; and in the course of 140 years we have elected some choice grammars to the White House. Andrew Jackson is alleged to have spelled "all correct" so as to create the extremely useful abbreviation "OK." After the lapse of twenty presidents, Woodrow Wilson wrote "okeh" and defended it by an appeal to the Choctaw language, an indigenous and therefore acceptable source. Shakespeare would have called such liberties "an old abusing of God's patience and the King's English."

There is happily no royal linguistic succession in this country. The split infinitive may be ousted from the White House by the next administration; but there it is for four years, at least, aiding and comforting the enemies of those who hold that the use of it is as damning a sacrifice as sitting on the wrong side of a lady in an automobile.—Detroit Free Press.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, April 4—One of Manhattan's unique institutions is the Virginia Pope Bird home, occupying an outmoded brown-stone front in west Sixty-Fifth street. It is a friendly sanctuary for birds that are ill, homeless or whose owners are on long journeys.

Large floors of high-ceiled rooms are given over to several hundred domesticated pets. Stage people own more birds than any other class. The aviary is named for the original owner whose love for birds was the dominating motive of her life.

The work is carried on today by Mrs. Hattie Williams, a motherly type, who has a half dozen assistants to carry out her orders. The ledger of the bird boarding-house shows a list of patrons from many walks of life—Marion Talley, Margaret Anglin, Fred Stone, Otto Kahn and so on.

The birds are not freed to fly about the house, but must keep to individual cages. Every variety almost is there—parrots, white cockatoos, the troupial, love birds, canaries galore and sundry others with unpronounceable names from the outer rims of civilization.

There are those that must be put in black sacks nightly or they can not sleep. Others must have a certain diet or they pine away. There are mated birds that droop when parted and there are innumerable feathered Thespians that were sent there by stranded troupers.

Boarding tariff varies. Canaries and thrushes are cared for at a dollar a week. Talking parrots for three dollars a week and those addicted to impolite language are not admitted. Strange exotic birds of rare plumage requiring special attention are charged five dollars a week.

Many convalescing with broken legs hop about in slippery elm splints. The most prevalent ailment among birds is grippe which is relieved with whisky. Birds are often taken there for surgical operations, but can not be anesthetized. One slight whiff and they expire.

On west Forty-Second street is another odd enterprise suggesting days agone and the only survivor perhaps in America. In a narrow slit of shop a hawk-nosed gentleman reminiful of Santa Claus repairs old-time music boxes once prized by grandparents. They are the sort wound up by hand and dialed to render such airs as "Blue Bells of Scotland" and "Annie Laurie." Every attic almost has one and recently they have become valuable to collectors. Thus the aged repairer does quite a business. He learned his trade in St. Croix, Switzerland, where all music boxes were made in their era of popularity.

Broadway first-nighters have missed Hetty Green's son, Colonel Edward, who used to attend almost every important premiere. The colonel spends his time on his vast estates overlooking Buzzard's bay, where his experimental laboratories and flying field are situated. Too, rheumatism has claimed him and coupled with the loss of a limb which he suffered in boyhood, getting about is difficult. He has none of his mother's pecuniary peculiarities and proved his ability as a money-maker before he fell heir to her millions. Close friends call him Eddie.

It strikes me—business of stealing a bow—New York owes much to its country jakes this year. Six of its newest big buildings and two new hotels were erected by boys who came from towns of less than 3,000. Come to think of it, maybe they owe New York a lot. Anyway, it was a mild winter.

Signs and Omens.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

"Will you please inform us of the significance of the appearance, on November 5 last at about 1:30 p. m., of one half circle of bow with ends pointing north and another semi-circle bow pointed south, both being near the sun, and with sun-like spots at each end of the bow pointing south? The southern bow disappeared first, while the northern bow was seen to have little white streamers the length of it. There was no rain. Do you think it was a sign of extensive floods?" I believe God hangs out signs to us by which he talks to us and we need to understand.—M. Page, Grand Rapids, Michigan."

These were not rainbows, but haloes, accompanied with the rather infrequent luminous phenomena called "mock suns," or "parhelia." You may congratulate yourself on having been a witness of such a phenomenon, and your careful description does credit to your power of critical observation, which is a rare thing.

As to the display having been a "sign" hung out in the heavens by the Almighty to give warning of unusual rains and floods, that is a matter of interpretation. Science assures us that there are no signs of that kind, and knows us how the phenomena are produced by the simple property of refraction of light. That the appearances you saw were indications of atmospheric conditions suited to produce rains, and incidentally floods, is unquestionably true; but no man of science would go with you in your belief that God hung these strange sights in the sky with the special intention that they should serve as warnings. They were only a visible step in the regular natural process of the accumulation and condensation of moisture in the atmosphere, whereby rains are produced. You might just as reasonably believe, when a close-packed mass of white cumulus cloud piles itself up in the summer air, that God has given you a special warning to look out for thunder and lightning.

You are perfectly right in believing that we need to understand these apparent signs and omens, but we ought to do it as far as we can with the aid of our intelligence. We ought to trace their origin as far back as possible in the regular course of nature's laws—which you must believe to be either God's laws or the results of blind chance. For my part I prefer the God hypothesis. But that does not prevent me from trying to find out as well as I can how nature works, or from saying, when I think I have found out, that God has not done this or that thing specially for me or for my fellows. He has done it as a part of what we call nature. Some of the representatives of our race have bought egotism by wholesale, until they think they own the universe.

There is no room to explain in detail the mathematical considerations which account for the various appearances through the refraction of light by otherwise invisible ice crystals suspended in the atmosphere.

In all cases such as you describe, the inner halo is the brighter, and sometimes the only one evident to the eye. The parhelic circle passing through the sun is parallel to the horizon. The parhelia, or mock suns, may be four in number, placed at the points where the two haloes traverse the parhelic circle. But ordinarily only one or two are noticed. The outer parhelia are much fainter than the inner ones. The tangent arcs sometimes produce remarkable effects, and there may be more than four mock suns visible. Occasionally the whole phenomenon is very complicated and awe-inspiring, but there is nothing supernatural about it. — Copyright, 1929, International Feature Service, Inc.

All Paris Mourns When Funeral Service Is Held for Ambassador Herrick

Three Speakers Deliver Eulogy in Behalf of Their Countries, Pershing Hails Departed Friend as a "True Soldier"

PARIS, April 4—While all Paris mourned as though a beloved son of France had passed a double funeral service was held here today for Myron T Herrick late American ambassador

The first service was held at the United States embassy Then the body was borne to the American cathedral where the final ceremonies took place The body was then placed in a temporary vault preparatory to shipment to Brest From Brest it will be carried to the United States upon the French cruiser Jeanne d'Arc

Three speakers paid tribute to the memory of the diplomat Gen John J Pershing commander of the American expeditionary forces in the great war delivered a eulogy in behalf of the United States Premier Poincare spoke for France, and Senor Quinones de Leon, Spanish ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps, expressed the sorrow of his fellow envoys

Witnessed by Throng

The ceremonies most impressive and solemn in their simplicity and sincerity were witnessed by a throng, rivaling that which attended the funeral of Marshal Foch nine days ago

There was sorrow in the air and a deep silence visible on every face as Paris arose from the humblest to the most distinguished paid a final tribute to the man whom she regarded almost as a son also

The ceremonies began at the American embassy where an impressive array of members of the American and French governments the diplomatic corps and representatives of American organizations in France surrounded the flag draped coffin of the ambassador resting in the grand salon

General Pershing called his departed friend a true soldier and likened him to the late Marshal Foch for his human qualities and bravery

A True Soldier

Ambassador Myron T Herrick was a true soldier our first volunteer" said General Pershing

He was a diplomat of the highest type He anticipated difficult situations and always was his countrymens most trusted adviser

Proofs of his moral virtues were so many that they need no mention now they furnished the foundation of his human greatness Just as they furnished the foundation of the human greatness of that other great heart that ceased to beat almost simultaneously

Both Ambassador Herrick and Marshal Foch were stalwart soldiers who always battled for right and each was the picture of an ideal citizen

Ambassador Herrick has recently for the love of man we lik that other departed great American, Abraham Lincoln

In the long, farewell his spirit walks to France there will be pledged to her the legacy of his love and to America, the pious duty to perpetuate it

This Is the Safest, Surest—Most Pleasant Way—To Lose Fat!

We are going to be perfectly frank about KRUSCHEN SALTS (taken internally)—the six vital mineral salts your body must have to function properly

KRUSCHEN SALTS do not reduce you overnight—like so many products claim to do But taken regularly over a period of time—they'll take away unhealthy flesh and restore your figure to its normal weight Yet at the same time—build up health with a tremendous increase in vigor and energy for you!

KRUSCHEN SALTS aid in stimulating the bowels and kidneys to proper elimination, they purify the blood of harmful acids—they carry through your blood stream new life and activity to every part of your body

MONEY BACK—IF NOT COMPLETELY SATISFIED

When your body is working like a perfect machine—rest assured that unhealthy fat starts to go—slowly but surely until you've finally reached your correct weight

Best of all your health has been marvelously improved—you'll be free from a great many ailments from which you probably suffered

Get an 85c bottle of KRUSCHEN SALTS at Pradley's Drug Store or any drug store (lasts 2 months) If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the safest, most pleasant and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel better than ever before in your life—your money gladly returned!—Adv

In Three Days Prove That You Can Overcome Stubborn INDIGESTION

"Money Back" Says Bradley's Drug Store, "If One Bottle Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used."

After you have taken Dare's Mentha Pepsin for 3 days you will we are sure prove to yourself that at last you have found a stomach medicine that won't fail

Please don't think of Dare's Mentha Pepsin as one of those relievers that may help for a couple of hours but do no lasting good

Better take it for what it is—a pleasant to take elixir that besides giving instant relief tones up and invigorates your weakening distressed stomach so that it will in a short time be able to digest the heartiest meal without a sign of gas sourness belching, or acidity

The tremendous sales of Dare's Mentha Pepsin prove it to be the one supremely good remedy for stubborn indigestion—Adv

Musical Comedy Star Featured in Radio Bill

EVELYN HOEY ON PROGRAM

Evelyn Hoey musical comedy star who is pictured above will be one of the featured artists on the Wrigley Review which will be broadcast over the WJZ network of the NBC system at 9 o'clock Friday night She will sing Dixie as her contribution to the program

BY MACK ROY

THE old fashioned idea of spring housecleaning is quite applicable to radio Every radio receiving apparatus will work all the better if it is given attention now and then With modern receivers this attention is very little—in fact once a year may be enough in most cases for going over the set and putting things in A 1 condition The fact that reception conditions are least favorable in the warmer months makes spring the logical time to put the radio set into the best working order

One way in which the receiver may be fortified against summer conditions is by providing it with a new set of tubes Tubes are now relatively inexpensive so that the owner of a good receiver may feel well repaid in results for the cost of their renewal annually

Another housecleaning hint concerns the antenna If this is exposed to the weather it is likely to become corroded during the winter and sometimes this diminishes its effectiveness The cost of a new antenna is trifling and its installation is a simple matter In putting up a summer antenna it is sometimes a good idea to make it shorter than the one used in the winter This improves selectivity and while it may cut down distance range somewhat broadcast reception will be much freer from static

TO BROADCAST COURT FINALS

NEWS of the championship games of the national interscholastic high school basketball tournament to be held at the University of Chicago on April 18 will be carried through the microphones of station WLS This exclusive broadcast of the semi finals and finals of the tourney will start at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon The finals are scheduled for 9 o'clock Saturday night

THE Women's Board of the Marion City Hospital met yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. L. Brady, Delaware ave., with Mrs. John T. McNamara as assistant hostess. The morning was spent with a short business meeting and with sewing. A 1 o'clock luncheon was served to 22 members at a table centered with a large basket of roses, tulips, and pussywillows.

A COLOR scheme of pink and green, carried out with pink tulips and green candles, featured the pot luck dinner given yesterday by the members of the Round Table club at the home of Mrs. Homer Waddell, South Vine st. Following the dinner, a program was enjoyed. Mrs. O. G. Stephenson read a paper on "Hawaii and the Philippines," followed by a paper on "Samoa and Other South Sea Islands" by Mrs. John Maciver. The program concluded with a paper on Australia and New Zealand, presented by Mrs. A. W. Gracely. During the short business meeting, Mrs. Don A. Howard was elected delegate to attend the annual convention of the Federation of Women's clubs at Dayton, April 22-25, and Mrs. William O. Nippert as her alternate. Mrs. J. Howard Swick will entertain the club April 17, at her home on East Church st.

Wednesday Club Holds Meeting

A color note of green and white, with decorations suggestive of Easter, was carried out at the luncheon served members of the Green Camp Wednesday club at its meeting yesterday afternoon with Mrs. John Ruth, northeast of Green Camp on the Radnor rd. Mrs. H. A. Findling, president of the Marion County Federation of Farm Women's clubs, was a guest of the club, and during the program hour, played the piano accompaniment for a vocal solo by Mrs. Ruth. Mrs. Ruth and Mrs. Claude Eckley sang a vocal duet. Bird imitations were given in response to the roll call preceding the meeting. Special music for the meeting was furnished by a kitchen orchestra. Mrs. Frank Becker, west of Green Camp, on the River rd., will entertain the club April 25. The club will hold its meetings the fourth Wednesday of the month instead of the first Wednesday, as it has done since its organization.

HOSPITAL BOARD NAMES OFFICERS

Bucyrus Group Reelects at Annual Session; Money in Fund

BUCYRUS, April 4.—All of the old officers were reelected at the meeting of the Monnett Memorial Hospital Board of Lady Managers held Wednesday afternoon at the hospital. Officers elected to serve another year were Mrs. James Hopley, president, Mrs. G. T. Watson, secretary, and Mrs. P. H. Ryder, treasurer.

In the annual treasurer's report given by Mrs. Ryder, it was shown that a balance of $32.33 was realized at the close of the year's work, which with the balance of $212.55 held by the board in the Building & Loan company shows a grand total of $244.88. The sum of $706.36 was taken in during the year and expenditures amounted to $474.03.

Final plans for the hospital benefit bridge party to be held at the Elks club Wednesday afternoon, April 10, were discussed. Mrs. P. J. Carroll is in charge of arrangements. Mrs. James Hopley of freshmants, Mrs. W. R. Wise, score cards, and Mrs. W. L. Yeomans, ticket distribution.

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affections

BY ADELE GARRISON

Katie's Dignity Offended But She Is Mollified

EVEN as I answered in the negative at Katie's excited query, "Vot matter? Ess anybody dead?" I wondered if I might unknowingly be telling her a falsehood. Her account of the hurried departure of the Underwoods and Noel Veritzen following a telephone call by Harry Underwood's to the hospital where Prince Georges lay wounded, surely signified some sudden emergency, and my nerves, though soothed by sleep, were again taut with the terror which the night just past had brought to me.

"No, I'm sure there's nobody dead," I told Katie, hoping my little friend did not notice the stiffness of my lips.

"Something funny happen in dees house last night," was Katie's next contribution, and I knew by her voice that she felt her dignity had been offended.

"Nobody tell me nodings, not efen dot Jeem, but Mary and Meester Noel he here, your room, und dot Meester Noel he here, stay all night in Meester Graham's room, und you no room down till now, und here in library look as eef somebody sit cop all night, und some of my lettle cakes gone, und somebody make coffee—I know by coffee can—I always measure efery day—und lots coffee gone last night. But it none of my beesiness. I shoost only fool hired girl. Nobody must tell me noding, only dot Jeem, dey tell heem all right. He knows something."

She was rapidly working herself up to a tantrum, and knowing that Katie, rounded up, is far safer than Katie, suspicious, trying to ferret out a mystery, I sat down at the kitchen table and smiled pleasantly at her.

"Nobody has tried to keep anything from you, Katie," I assured her. "There's been no time to talk. I'll tell you everything there is to know, if you'll hurry me some breakfast. I'm starved."

Her good humor was restored in a second. She gave a little cluck of commiseration, and turned to the stove, her curiosity temporarily stilled.

"Aint dot goot lookt?" she asked, apparently addressing the kitchen wall. "Dot tea kettle shoost boil deep meenit. I have fresh vater for your coffee. You shoost sit efer in dot rocker. I feex shoe for your feet, und I haf your breakfast in two shakes lettle sheep's tail."

I took the seat she indicated, for I saw she wished to spread the table for me, and watched my little maid's deft movements as she put coffee to percolating, squeezed the grape-fruit juice—my invariable breakfast preliminary—into a glass, and prepared the scrambled eggs and toast which she knows I especially like. I did not talk to her until I had finished eating my breakfast, for I wanted to watch carefully what I told her, but when I pushed back my second cup of coffee, I satisfied the eager curiosity in her face.

"You know Miss Mary went driving with Mr. Jackson last night," I began.

"Sure, I know dot," she answered. "Vot happen? Dey in smash-cop?"

"Yes, they were," I said, and forestalled the quick alarm in her eyes by adding, "but Miss Mary wasn't hurt badly, just shaken up and bruised a bit. She'll be all right in a day or two. Mr. Jackson isn't seriously injured, either, but he's in the hospital. You see, somebody shot him as he was driving along, mistaking him for someone else. He was driving slowly or both he and Miss Mary would have been killed, for the car went into a tree."

I was giving her only the version of the affair which she would hear from anyone who knew of the accident to "Mr. Jackson." It was impossible, of course, to keep Mary's name out of my explanation to her for she had seen the girl drive away with young "Mr. Jackson" the night before. But I knew a sure way of keeping Katie's voluble mouth closed on the subject of Mary's connection with the accident. Making a confidante of my temperamental little maid always enlists her loyalty and insures her silence.

"There is one thing I want to warn you about, Katie," I said. "You must let no hint drop to anyone—anyone—remember—that Miss Mary was driving with Mr. Jackson last night. You see the thing happened on a road near where the Underwoods were driving and when Mary started for help she ran into them. They got help for Mr. Jackson, but kept her out of sight and brought her home, so no one but ourselves knows that she was in the car, and we can keep her from getting into the papers if we are silent."

Katie's eyes were big with excitement as I finished.

"Yah! dot wouldn't be nice, Miss Mary in newspapers," she said, but in reluctant accents. I knew her movie-fed soul was secretly regretting the opportunity of figuring in the tabloids. But I knew that her promise, "I say nodings to nobody," would be kept inviolably, and as I rose from the table at the sound of the Underwood car outside the door, I was as much at ease about Katie's discretion as I was anxious to find out what had been the reason for the hasty departure of Lillian and Harry from the farmhouse.

"Didn't think it was necessary." Peters' face twisted into a wry grin. "Had an idea you knew more about ...at was going to happen than any... else."

"Just what makes you say that?"

"A little birdie told me, Mally."

"You take your information from ...e sources."

"One has to, sometimes. Tell me, ... where did you go after dinner ...evening? You came back all ...ked."

"Ask the birdie," said Mallingham. He wondered just how much the little man knew of his movements that evening.

"By the way, who is the great man with the incendiary bair" He indicated a tall, youngish person with astonishingly red hair who had just entered.

"I never saw him before, Mally, but my guess is that he is the physician who is attending the mysterious young lady who arrived last night. I understand his name is Dr. Speck. Wonder how the patient is getting on."

At this point the caretaker returned with two servants who had assisted him in closing the shutters all over the house. John announced that the sun parlor, which occupied a separate wing and constituted an addition to the original building, had collapsed. It was John's opinion that the original wall would hold a while longer.

"That sounds bad," said Peters. He trembled as an ominous creaking sounded overhead. "I wish those noises would stop. They give me the jumpies. What's going to happen to us, Mally?"

"Hard telling. We'll know soon whether we are going to be buried alive or permitted to live long enough to die some other kind of death."

"You're a cool one, Mally. Have you no fear, no regrets?"

"You're a cool one, Mally. Have no no fear, no regrets?"

"What would be the use? Have you?"

"Why, yes. If this is going to be the end of little old Horace Peters, I wish I'd taken a chance on the iron door". He fingered his large, bulbous nose. "The clock is still running, I suppose, Mally?"

"It was a few minutes ago. You might go and look for yourself."

But Peters seemed to have no inclination to do so. He glanced nervously about the room, at the chattering men and women, and then his glance stopped on the fireplace. The few charred logs on the andirons were emitting a feeble, flickering glow. His mouth opened in surprise. "Look, Mally! Notice the smoke? There isn't much of it, but see where it's going."

Mallingham nodded. "Yes, I've noticed it. The smoke is coming into the room instead of going up the chimney. There is an obstruction somewhere. Probably the entire house is buried. For all we know, there may be several thousand tons of snow, gravel and rocks over our heads."

Peters trembled. "You say that as coolly as if this was an anthill and we were an army of ants and somebody was poking a stick in our midst."

"Why not? This house is pretty solidly constructed, but it can't stand that kind of strain indefinitely. Something is bound to give. We might as well face the truth."

"Keep your darned truth to yourself," said Peters with grim earnestness. "I want to think about pleasant things while I'm alive. I want to feast my eyes on pretty girls. There's Mrs. Marlenet's maid, for instance. Her name is Kate Wynne, isn't it?"

Mallingham smiled. Peter's flippancies, he knew, were like the whistling of a small boy trying to keep up his courage in the dark. He favored Kate Wynne with an appreciative glance as she adjusted smelling salts to her mistress. She was a dark, slim, very pretty girl, full of unconscious coquettries.

As he watched her, he became aware that still another person was interested in the maid.

"You have a competitor," he told the little man. "Look at Dr. Speck."

Peters' glance traveled to the young physician, standing aloof from the others. He was fixing the maid with a dreamy and adoring look that showed all the symptoms of a sudden and violent infatuation.

"That hick!" Peters snorted. "Looks as if he ought to be a horse doctor. Kate has been looking after the mysterious young lady upstairs. That's how this countrified pill-mixer got acquainted with her. If I live long enough, I'm going to knock some of those gold teeth out of his jaws. Look at him, Mally. He looks like the United States mint whenever he smiles."

"I'm going to let some of this smoke out," Mallingham announced.

He stepped to the door, flung it open, then drew back a step in surprise. The corridor outside was deserted, but he had a clear and sharp impression that some one had sprung back into the shadows as he opened the door. He had caught a moment's glimpse of a face, and the face had brought a rush of poignant sensations to his brain.

Steadying himself, he ran down the corridor. Sharp hammering blows fell on his ears, mingling with the creaking and snapping of timbers. He knew that the caretaker, with two of Mrs. Marlenet's male servants, was bracing the outer doors and the windows against the constantly increasing pressure of the grinding and sagging mass outside. Postponing the hour of destruction, was Mallingham's thought.

At the end of the corridor, he looked back over it in the light of the electric bulb in the ceiling, glanced up the curving sweep of the stairway, and stood scanning the dusk with eyes infinitely alert. He must have another glimpse of that face even if this were to be his last hour on earth. But the face was gone; it appeared to have vanished into the creaking and tortured depths of the house.

A prolonged, rending roar sounded overhead. Once more he glanced up the stairway well. The overloaded roof was cracking in places. But that face——?

He went back to the library, buzzing with hysterical voices. Doctor Speck, like an overgrown romantic boy, stood gazing moodily at Kate Wynne. Julia was reclining on the couch, and he could not tell whether she had fainted or gone to sleep. Peters, with a gray film on his mottled features and an unsteady grin on his lips, came forward.

"You look scared, Mally," said the little man. "At last I know you're human. Shake!"

They shook hands, Mallingham with the air of humoring a youth. Their eyes met, and Peters jerked back a little. His own eyes widened with astonishment.

"Mercy, Mally, you look as if you'd seen a ghost!"

"Don't be an idiot," snapped Mallingham; and just then darkness descended suddenly over the room. Peters gave a startled gasp. Somewhere a woman screamed.

"Don't be alarmed!" Mallingham called out. Shaken though he was, his voice sounded steady. "Something has happened to the lights, that's all. The dynamo is in a separate building. It has probably collapsed."

He struck a match and lighted the stately red and green candles on the mantelshelf. His hand was firm again, although his mind was haunted by a vision. As he turned away, a great splintering crash rounded overhead. There was something awful and blood-freezing in that mighty uproar. In an instant all voices were stilled. There was a period of waiting, of horrible suspense. The moments dragged agonizingly.

"We'll all be dead before morning," said Peters, fumbling with the button on Mallingham's coat. The forced levity in his voice gave it a ghastly ring. "Anyhow, Dr. Speck is a kiss ahead of the game. I saw him——"

Once more a thunderous crash shook the house. The awfulness of it silenced every tongue. Like a frightened herd the occupants of the room drew closer together. The candles wavered, projecting a ghostly shimmer into the far corners. Again came that horrible, suspenseful hush. Then a chime fell melodiously, mockingly on the fear-ridden stillness.

Old Winthrop's clock was striking the hour of 4.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

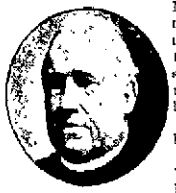
TODAY was Thursday, but that didn't mean anything to Jubilee or his fleas when I pushed him out of bed this morning and got up and got his rope out of the attic and let him down out of the window, but it was still as hammy as it could be and the air felt clean enough to wash in. Then I got to thinking about Mush and his wife and how they both got hit in the same place, and I had to laugh. I bet the next time Mush has to have his valves ground he will stay in his dump cart till it is done.

When I got the ashes emptied and started out to feed and milk the dummed brutes I found a place in the yard all spaded up, and I went and looked, and sure enough my grandfather's fishpole and line was gone, and he was gone with it. When I was eating my breakfast they were all talking about the fish we might have for supper, and my ant sniffed with her nose and said she bet if we had fish we would have to buy it. She said my grandfather would probly come home smelling like 10 nights in a bar room and looking like the face on the bar room floor and feeling like the queen of May. Then my mother asked my ant if she would kindly pass the eggs, and she looked at her with such a cold look in her eye that my ant passed the eggs and closed up like Saturday night.

My grandfather is my mother's father and she don't like to have any one find fault with him. She says he is a gentleman and a patriot, and if his blood has got thin and he needs something to warm him up internally he has a perfect right; my ant said he would get something to warm him up eternally later on. Then my father told her it would be a good idee to let her vittles stop her mouth. My ant is my father's sister. Everyone at our house is related to everyone else somehow or other. No man has ever asked my ant to marry him, and my unkle has asked everyone to marry him. None asked my ant for fear she would say yes. And everyone took a look at my unkle and don't even promise to be a sister to him; so they are a bachelor and an old maid and living at our house. We always get the worst of it somehow or other.

Mush had went to work when we got to school this morning, so there wasn't any fun with them. Mush's wife has had all of her upstairs teeth tooken out and her face folds up like an accordeon, and she looks at everyone like she was dasting them to say anything about it. Feeble went past her sinxins. "Thoo-oo-oo-oop. Be-yu-tiful thoop," and Mush's wife bailed her out, and Feeble looked supprized and hurt and crossoyed. And then the bell tolle again.

Spring Is The Time To "Clean House" Bodily



In the spring time a great many people find themselves below normal health. The weakened body cannot efficiently "clean house." CONTAGION FIGURES HIGH DURING MARCH

Total Largest in Year, Health Officer Reports, 22 Homes Quarantined

Contagion in Marion during March has been greater than any month in the year according to the monthly report of Dr J W Weiser city health commissioner given at the April meeting of the board of health in the city hall yesterday afternoon Twenty homes in the city were quarantined during the month according to the report

Measles led last with nine cases reported Scarlet fever was second with seven typhoid fever three and diphtheria one

Inspection by Dr J F Gruber for bacterial count in milk revealed some very high figures In two dairies the bacteria count was 611000 and 661000 I mean the city average is 15000 This was explained by Dr Gruber who stated that faulty steam cans were responsible The temperature registered 10 degrees above the actual temperature and the milk was not cooled instead of being pasteurized These defects were corrected

Several Marion residents who have not yet had cows will be obliged to equip their homes with sanitary plumbing or face charges in local courts it was stated at yesterdays meeting

Test SOHIO yourself

let your own motor prove to you that

THERE is A DIFFERENCE IN GASOLINE

There IS a difference in gasoline. Yet we do not ask you to take our word for this. We do not care to support Sohio with extravagant claims of increased mileage, greater power, more speed. We simply say this—"Put Sohio in your own car Test it any way you wish. Let your own motor demonstrate Sohio's unique and superior qualities."

Sohio is on sale at more than 700 Standard Service Stations and by thousands of dealers everywhere in Ohio. Drive up to a Red White and-Blue Standard Service Station or pump today. Ask for high-test Sohio gasoline. Try it in your own car—test it in your own way.

TEST THIS NEW FUEL IN YOUR OWN CAR

1 Put it in a car that knocks
2 Use it in high-compression motors
3 Check your mileage
4 Test it for power on hills
5 Note minimum oil dilution
6 Check its starting quality

RED CROWN GASOLINE
The same standards of care and uniformity also control the manufacture and distribution of Red Crown We make Red Crown ourselves, in the same great plants that produce Sohio, because our customers are educated to a better grade of fuel than ordinary motor gasolines such as we might buy in the open market.

ON THE

Streets of Marion

WITH STAR STAFF

Column "Tips"

"STREETS OF MARION" is a popular column in The Star This conclusion is reached almost daily by reporters on the street who come in contact with the reading public whose name is legion

This interest is so keen that every once in a while some of the populace will stop their friend reporters and mention items which would certainly go over big in your Streets of Marion column

Recently one of the best known citizens stopped a girl reporter on the street and pointing to a Chevrolet coach at the curb said with a chuckle There is something for your column

And sure enough there stacked about two deep was a back seat full of small children kids and a continuous migration from the machine didn't seem to diminish the number Must have been a fake bottom in the car or else the children were getting out of one side and running around and in the other side

Spring Attire

INDICATIONS of Spring and her charming advances are evident at all turns One which when it is finally consumated attracts admiring attention is just now beginning to show a promise of beauty

The girls around St Mary's parochial school are turning now from dismal black wool into softest green At first glance, the beige looks like a soft green band of crimping around the playground but when it is neared, it has the appearance of a freshly piled carpet with a border like underclass

The Closed Door

WHEN oh when is the East Center street door of the courthouse going to be opened to the justice loving and paying public?

Weeks even perhaps months ago the citizenry was promised admittance to the house of justice through its south door but still the way to true legal light is barred by a couple of rusted wire

One person suggested that it made the courthouse look tacky and another suggested that perhaps horses were hitched to this railing when riders of the circuit courts sauter into town

If people of Marion can't use the front door of their courthouse it would look better to see a new shiny brass padlock on the door instead of the wire clothes line now adorning the doorway Padlocking is popular these days anyway

Old-Time Styles

DESPITE the introduction of ... culine clothes into the modern woman's wardrobe the appeal of the old fashioned dresses and the feminine line of old gowns still linger with the older people and is the subject for many glamorous dreams with the younger of the sex

Children's minds turn to thoughts of how their grandmothers must have looked at one of the famous balls of long ago and how they lifted their trailing skirts and show a dainty calf and ankle when they mounted the steps

A little girls presumably about ... years of age were seen lately on the streets of Marion acting the part of ladies of 75 years ago They had ... trailing skirts large top hats and large muff in which their hands would gracefully be thrust their skirts held while walking down East Center street trying to look dignified

It was a sight that caused much laughter but children have vivid imaginations and delight in acting especially if they have appropriate costumes

SUNDAY CLOSING LAW UP TO WICHITA VOTE

WICHITA, Kas.—This city is the scene of a heated and bitter fight which will not be settled until after the general election April 16. Citizens will then cast their votes for or against the Sunday Amusement Proposition which if passed will close all ... Sunday

Tuxedo Suits

The surprising feature of Richman's Clothes is not the price, but the sterling quality of their fabrics and workmanship. They are entirely unlike any other clothes sold at $22.50—they can be compared only with clothes sold at very much higher prices.

If you could spend a day in the Richman factories, you would see clothes produced in immense volume with the scientific precision which creates quality at low cost. You would see the finest of pure wool fabrics thoroughly shrunk, and accurately cut in models styled by the best designing talent in the country. You would see 3000 skilled men and women, who own stock in this company valued at $7,500,000.00, tailoring quality into each garment, from the first stitch in the hidden inner construction to the sewing of the last button.

You must see Richman's Clothes, and try them on, to fully appreciate the inimitable style, the quality, and the value Richman resources and direct-from-factory selling plan give you for $22.50. These new spring suits and topcoats we are now showing are the finest we have made in all our fifty years' experience —they will please men who have never paid less than $50 for clothes. And the variety of models, fabrics, and colorings is so comprehensive that any man can readily find just what he likes in his correct size and proportions.

MORROW COUNTY TEACHERS CONVENE

Schoolmasters' Club Members Discuss Spring Sports at Mt Gilead Meet

MT GILEAD April 4—Approximately 100 per cent of the men teachers in the high schools of the county were present at the monthly meeting of the Schoolmasters club which was held in the courthouse last night

Wade Hamman of the interesting problem concerning the ball in this county was brought before the club for the second time the discussion was settled when it was left in the superintendents of the different schools to make a schedule for this spring sport in which all schools having a team will be entered A schedule is also to be made for the girls and for baseball teams of the county

A discussion of the arithmetic and reading books used in the county entered the club into a very lengthy discussion The question was settled after it was proposed by one of the members that the superintendents meet and if the old books are not satisfactory to select new ones

Steps were taken by the organization to have their meetings more interesting It was suggested that the women teachers be invited to the next meeting and instead of dining in the Lotella Inn have a basket picnic

The next meeting of this organization will be held in the courtroom of the Morrow County Courthouse Wednesday May 1 This will end the meetings of this organization for this year

Ohio Traffic Speed Limit Set at 45-Miles an Hour in Bill Passed by Senate

Measure Makes Careful Driving Rather Than Slow Rate of Speed the Test of Safety, Anti-Hit-Skip Bill Also Passed

COLUMBUS O April 4—A automobile driver within a few miles an hour of 45 miles an hour is safe from arrest for speed traps, under the state senate bill passed this afternoon by a vote of 24 to 9.

The state senate settled this question when it passed the Peck bill which makes careful driving rather than low rate of speed the test of safety a measure backed by the State Automobile Association and many auto clubs.

The vote was on the Ashbrook measure one of the three bills introduced this session by Senator Peck.

The amendment to the Peck bill virtually means that the state highway patrol headed by Col Edward J Hinchey will have jurisdiction over speed violations on all highways in the state.

The house expects to act on the senate amendments to the Peck bill at this session of the legislature.

The amendment to the Peck bill virtually means that the state highway patrol headed by Col Edward J Hinchey will have jurisdiction over speed violations on all highways in the state.

Law in Other States

The legislature has before it a bill which has long since died in committee that would speed up arrests of speeders by making it unlawful for them to travel more than a certain number of miles an hour.

Michigan and other states have such a limit law.

In addition to fixing the limit in the country road the Ashbrook measure also raises the speeds which may be permitted in municipalities as follows

In congested districts as may be fixed by local authorities not to exceed more than fifteen miles an hour.

Elsewhere in municipalities limit raised from 25 miles an hour.

Anti Hit Skip Bill

The senate next day passed another bill on record by Representative Elmer E Bing of Akron which stiffens the penalties for hit and skip driver The vote on the was 31 to 0

The anti hit and skip bill makes it compulsory for drivers who have had an accident to stop and give information about themselves Penalties for failing to do this would be six months in jail $ 500 fine or both

The penalty for exceeding the speed limit would be a $ 50 fine for second

YOUNG GIRL WAS HIGHLY NERVOUS; LAUDS KONJOLA

Mother Says Master Medicine Rebuilt Her Daughter's System and Made Her Like Other Children

MISS RUTH STUVER

My daughter had been failing in health for some time and although we tried everything, recommended all medicine failed to help her until she started the Konjola treatment, said Mrs Nora Stuver about her daughter, Miss Ruth Stuver 903 Commercial avenue New Philadelphia

For several years Ruth suffered from nervousness and a disordered stomach that always caused gas bloating and belching spells just as soon as she finished eating Sound sleep was denied her and she never had the pep and energy common among healthy children

"Konjola had done wonders for her sister Jean, and so I gave it to Ruth. All her troubles vanished as if by magic. Once again her stomach is functionally normally. She sleeps soundly each night. Konjola has rebuilt her entire system and to such an extent that we can hardly believe she was ever in poor health. Konjola exceeded our fondest expectations and it is a pleasure to indorse it."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contain twenty two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action The effect of this Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this section.

Konjola is sold in Marion at Stump & Bates Pharmacy and by all the best druggists throughout this section.

REPORTS from New Orleans where the Indians are doing their spring conditioning would indicate that Peck is still experimenting with his talent He started to experimental stuff last fall when it was apparent that the Indians couldn't finish up with the pack By the opening of this season he may weld together a combination which will cause trouble in the American league ranks

It looks now as if Johnny Hodapp the hot corner guardian during most of 1928 will be permanently fixed at first base when the Indians go to action in the regular campaign Johnny has shown a lot of ability around the initial corner and after he decided to use a leather mace last year his batting bounced up to a place where he was one of the most feared hitsmen on the Cleveland roster Ten ounces added to his mallet has rocketed his batting average Hodapp may prove to be one of the best first baseman in the junior circuit

PECK will undoubtedly keep Carl Lind on the keystone lug You'll recall that Lind was all ready to be shipped to Toronto last year when a collision between Eddie Morgan and Lew Fonseca gave Carl his chance Lind was hurried to the rescue and came through in such style that he was given a big boost in pay this year

The Cleveland club is trying a bunch of promising young players and if Peck will be able to come up with enough material for the second string and any gaping holes in the starting staff Last year's catching staff of Luke Sewell Glenn Myatt and Chick Autry has been retained and is fair enough to go along with any team that can be put together

If Cleveland is going to take championship baseball it will fill the City Stadium 1930 Evans and Peckinpaugh are going to try and get a championship team in 1929

EITHER to show his confidence in the ability of the Philadelphia Athletics or to get a line on the screaming of the new fellows he had a wager over the winter Jack Hendricks manager of the Cincinnati Reds used a rookie outfield and secondstring infield when his club hooked up with the As in their first exhibition game of the spring training season This was the tilt staged at Miami—and the Reds—new and old — made good against the club which made Cincinnati for a time in the American league last year

Before the game Hendricks said he had some likely-looking new timber for the outfield He was particularly pleased with a prospect named Crabtree from Oklahoma He's due up to be a regular when the season opens and he may prove a hitting sensation in the National league said the Red manager However Cincinnati flourishes in the days before the opening of the pennant race but frequently those boys who are hot before they face big league pitching become cold and wilt under the big top

NATURALLY an eye was kept on Crabtree We may have missed some of the things which happened in the infield but we didn't overlook any thing done by the lad from Oklahoma and he did plenty

The scribes traveling with the Reds also praise Crabtree He comes from Oklahoma and he isn't anxious to go back without making good they chortled If he keeps up half the pace he set for himself in that game against the As he won't have to worry about going back He's sure to remain in Cincinnati

The second time up Crabtree slammed the ball away out against the chicken wire While property may have been at a premium in Miami some years back the fellows who sponsored the ball park in the Magic city saw to it that the outfielders had plenty of elbow room Those wire fences are by no means close in

THE third time up the Oklahoma wonder cracked out another four bagger and the fans started to think that it was a habit with the rookie

Hendricks seems to have the making of a better ball club than he had last year There is a lot of pepper and flash on the team and that always counts. He has some likely youngsters who are almost sure to stick with the club and strengthen it and he has Estell Crabtree, from Oklahoma

It wouldn't be surprising to discover later in the year that Crabtree is the best find of the season

ACCIDENT WEAKENS SHOTTON'S CHANCES

BY DAVIS J WALSH

NEW YORK April 4—Fate the baffling hitter who uses your money with boisterous generosity in betting against the cards you draw seems to have draped himself over Burt Shotton's shoulder as he attempts to run a shoestring into a repeat ladder with his Philadelphia ball club Isolating Tommy Thevenow key man of Shotton's new infield has painfully injured in a Florida hospital as a result of an automobile accident and they say he will be out at least a month and perhaps for the entire season If he is out a minute it will be much too long as far as the 1929 Phillies are concerned

Apparently destined to make some kind of a play for sixth place this year Thevenow injuries mean that the Phillies virtually are committed to a role season in the cellar As it was they didn't have too much As it is they probably have what they had before Shotton took the club over Ice and roughly speaking nothing Whatever the outfit expected in the way of minor successes was predicated on Thevenow's recovery from injuries sustained in 1927 and his work at Winter Haven this year had proved that he was an assured come back

NEEDED PITCHERS BUTS GETS SYMPATHY

BUT this only begins to tell the story For two years Shotton has needed above all else the following in the order of their importance first sympathy second pitchers What happened? He developed the best collection of first class sympathy ever seen in a training camp

Frank Ulrich was rated as one of the best young pitchers in the league when Shotton took the club If it was to go anywhere

In 1928 Ulrich was the kid who might have taken it there He contracted a serious illness and was lost for the season He was getting himself ready for the impending campaign when illness overlook him again and he died

His passing left Ray Benge a recruit developed by Shotton as the best pitcher at the camp Benge today has a loose bone in his elbow and his future on the ball field is far from assured

PRACTICALLY SOLVED INFIELD PROBLEM

THE infield has been almost clamorous with its problems but Shotton seemed to have connived his way out of that pretty well after he angled Thevenow from the Cardinals in an alleged $30,000 deal For Thevenow almost useless in 1928 had played great ball at shortstop this spring and was working perfectly with Fresco Thompson at the axis of the infield His only available successor is the none too eligible Barney Friberg

Thompson however is Shotton's gold medal exhibit The Pittsburg club had this young man for a year and couldn't use him McGraw had him overnight and didn't want him

So Shotton gladly traded a couple of passe veterans for the lad who was to be no one of the ranking second basemen of the league

Yes he's no many's chump this fellow Shotton and little by little he is building his structure on a permanent stable foundation However fate certainly is a swell demolisher

SIMPSON LEADING RUNNERS IN DERBY

57 Entries Leave Wilmington for Havre De Grace Md

WILMINGTON Del April 4—C C Pyles bunion marathoners started again today at 7 a m on their chase across the continent to the foot of the rainbow with its $25,000 prize for the winner of the transcontinental foot race Paul Simpson Burlington N C held the lead in elapsed time since the start of the race in New York when the 57 entrants left here

The fifth leg of the race ends at Havre De Grace Md thus the runners will have crossed four states in as many days when they cross the Delaware Maryland line After stopping in Havre De Grace overnight the bunioneers go to Baltimore tomorrow and from Baltimore to Frederick Md and westward over the Cumberland mountains to Cumberland on Sunday

HOPPE IN LEAD

NEW YORK April 4—The veteran Willie Hoppe led Allen Hall of St Louis by 300 to 260 in their 600 point match at three cushion billiards Hoppe won the fifth and sixth blocks 50 to 37 and 50 to 31

SEASON TO OPEN ON MAY 6 OR 13

Meeting To Be Held at Y M C A Week from Tonight, Managers and Captains of Teams Will Name New Commission To Direct Leagues

BY BOB ELLIOTT

MARION'S fourth annual recreational baseball banquet will be held one week from today April 11 in the lower gymnasium at the local Y M C A it was announced today by E O Rudolph secretary of the commission and John H Clark president Plans are as yet rather unsettled although the speaker for the occasion is practically will be some man prominently identified with college athletic circles

Tickets for the banquet will be issued in the near future to the managers of the teams which were entered last year and those who desire to enter a team this year for the first time

I C Boles athletic director of Wooster college and one of the greatest football coaches in Ohio is at present under consideration for the address while if it is not possible for him to attend efforts will be pushed to secure Frank Godfrey, football coach at Wittenberg It will be remembered that Sam Willaman recently named football coach at Ohio State addressed the banquet last year

New Commission

However the thing that will be the most interesting to the teams will be the election of the recreation ball commission for the coming season When the present commission goes out of office the night of April 11 it is expected that several faces long familiar with recreational ball in Marion will fade off the horizon There is no denying that the past season was one of the most stormy from the commission's standpoint that ever was played through Protest after protest was filed and naturally when a protest is filed one of the two teams is bound to be disappointed Some rather disparaging remarks were uttered about several members of the commission by those disappointed teams and naturally this did not make such a big hit Hence the resignations

Immediately following the election of the members of the new commission it will retire and organize and elect officers for the year Action will be taken at this time as to whether or not the rules will be gone over for possible corrections and additions This year at the election of the commission only a duly elected manager and captain can vote Contrary to the system employed last year when a hat was passed through the audience to collect the ballots the manager and captain of each team will come to the front of the room and cast his vote when over their respective names are read off by the chairman of the proceedings

Managers Captains To Vote

Officers of the commission remind those contemplating entering teams that only duly elected managers and captains are eligible to vote so all teams that are going to enter a league this year are urged to organize within the next week

It has been decided that no league will have over eight teams which will relieve any situation such as arose last year when the Commercial league was forced to play with 10 teams and consequently final had their season way behind the other three loops Also it has been announced that no team will be allowed to start play in any league until its entry fee has been posted with the commission

This limiting any league to eight teams makes the question of a fifth league rather important If enough teams file entry blanks to necessitate the fifth league then it will be formed while if just the same number of teams enter as last year the fifth loop will be shoved into the background Asbury M F which has never had a team in any league is a probable new entrant in the church leagues while it is not known whether Presbyterians will remain in the second loop

Watch Eligibility

The president of the commission calls special attention to the managers of the Sunday school league teams concerning eligibility rules These two Sunday school leagues were the ones that caused most of the trouble last year as far as protests were concerned and quick action is going to be taken by the new commission to prevent a recurrence

Any man that is going to play with a team in the Sunday school leagues that did not play last season must attend Sunday school for three Sundays in succession previous to the start of the season which has been tentatively set for May 6 or 13 A man who played with a team in the Sunday school leagues last season must attend two Sundays out of each month starting with April until the end of the season This last rule also applies to the new man The record of each Sunday school class which has a ball team must always be open to inspection as to whether a man has attended the required two Sundays out of every month

The present commission will retire from offices showing a net balance of $300 in the treasury

OPENS SEASON

Ohio State Baseballers To Play Indiana at Columbus Today

COLUMBUS April 4—Strength of the Ohio State entry in the 1929 western conference baseball pennant chase will largely be determined by ability of the sophomore talent to crash through under fire particularly in the pitching department The first test comes today when Indiana opens the Big Ten season here Ohio university will follow Saturday

With William Sill the only letter man returning to the box considerable importance will be attached by Coach L W St John and his assistants to the performances of Kermode Art Reed and McLaughlin, all untried against Western conference competition Lincoln Boots Cory famous both for his work on the gridiron and as a boxer will attempt to make a comeback this year however

PORTER'S TRIPLE GIVES INDIANS GIANTS' SCALP

NEW ORLEANS April 4—The Cleveland Indians after defeating the New York Giants in an exhibition game yesterday today were looking forward to their two game series with the Brooklyn Robins Saturday and Sunday Dick Porter recruit outfielder, saved the game for the Indians when he knocked a triple in the ninth inning with the score knotted at four all Joe Sewell brought him in with a single ending the game 5 to 4 for the Indians

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

Bill Angelo Philadelphia welterweight stopped Jack Munroe of Charleston W Va (5)

AT NEW YORK—Hugh Devine of Scranton Pa knocked out Mickey Doyle of Scranton Pa (1)

Jimmy Lown former Olympic boxer outpointed Joe Grant St Louis (4)

ROOKIE GOES HOT

WACO Texas April 4—Arndt Jorgens rookie from Oklahoma City and a former Chicagoan promises to be a valuable addition to the catching staff of the Yankees His home run and double gave the world's champions a 3 to 2 win over Fort Worth yesterday The Yanks play Waco today

HENDRICKS AT SHORT

PENSACOLA Fla April 4—Gus Hendricks Cincinnati outfielder and third baseman is now being tried out at shortstop by the Brooklyn Dodgers who slugged their way to a 10 to 6 decision over the Jacksonville Tars yesterday Del Bissonette snapped out of his batting slump and Nick Cullop swung a wicked willow in the clean up position.

TWO CHANGES MADE IN EAGLES PROGRAM

CHANGES in two bouts on the Marion Eagles fight card which will be here Monday night were announced today The changes were made in the semi final and the first preliminary

Jack Beasley of Columbus has been substituted for Red Kyle in the semi final bout or eight rounds against Lee Meredith of Toledo Just why Kyle refused to return his contract signed is not known unless it was because the Toledo boy is a little too tough

Dick Sullivan of Marion and Al Anderson of Toledo have been eliminated from the card They were scheduled to clash in the opening preliminary engagement over the six rounds Lombardo is plenty tough and may hand the Wildcat quite a little punishment before the session ends

"Hey, Bill!"

I don't know which cigarette this is, but it sure wins my vote!"

W. H. (Bill) McCord, of Post & McCord, steel contractors for New York's tallest skyscrapers, holds cigarette test with 94 workers.

Friend, you're smoking a certain cigarette today because you feel it's the best brand for you And maybe you're right But have you ever really checked up? Ever said to Old Man Habit, "Now you step out of the room I'm going to smoke the four leading brands with brand names forgotten and just let my taste say which one is best"

The other day one of these tests was made among the huskiest fellows in New York... those two-fisted chaps who work with steel girders, sky-high above the city streets.

Their own boss, Mr W. H McCord, was referee and score keeper Each cigarette was "masked" and numbered All Mr McCord said was, "Tell me which one you like the best"

The result speaks for itself! 69 out of 94 men voted for OLD GOLD!

OLD GOLDS win time after time in these public tests, because smokers find them smoother and better... with not a cough in a carload

The four leading brands of cigarettes "masked" with numbered paper sleeves to conceal their brand names.

REDS ELATED

Blank Atlanta Team In Practice Game In South

ATLANTA, Ga., April 4—The Cincinnati Reds are elated today over their easy and smooth win over the Atlanta Southern association team yesterday, 6 to 0. The Reds scored two runs each in the second, fourth and ninth innings. The National leaguers scored four runs off Griffith who passed six men in his five innings on the mound and gave up four hits. The best the Atlanta boys could do was complete three double plays being shut out with a mere five hits. Lucas, Riley an McMullen composed the battery for the Hendrickx team.

COLUMBUS PACKS

Leaves For Jacksonville Where Series Will Be Played

LAKELAND Fla., April 4—The Columbus Senators American Association squad packed up today, tonight taking the rails to Jacksonville where games will be played tomorrow and Saturday. The game with Montreal at St. Augustine scheduled for Sunday has been called off. The game was called off because Montreal wanted to play at Daytona Beach and the Senators didn't want to go to the extra expense of traveling to the beach.

LOCATES HERE

O'Conner Scheduled for Bout in Toledo Soon

A big give and take man with a wonderful line about his own abilities has located in Marion. He is none other than the Battling O'Connor, late of Lima and Toledo.

CLAIMS VICTIM

"Death Stretch" Near London Takes Dayton Contractor

LONDON, April 4—"Death stretch," a section of the national highway near here, today had claimed another victim. A. V. Lester, St., Dayton contractor, was killed and his two sons and another youth were injured when the car in which they were riding overturned there yesterday.

His sons, A. V. Lester, Jr., 24 and E. J. Lester, and De Freese Brian, 19, all of Dayton, were taken to Springfield.

The party was enroute to Gambier, where his younger son and Brian attend Kenyon college.

Cause of the crash could not be determined. The car skidded when it struck the loose gravel at the side of the road and turned turtle.

The physical welfare of the child is being given much attention by school authorities
Failure to keep up with class work and absence from school is probably due to nervousness and a run-down condition that may be largely attributed to a deficiency in red-blood cells

Are you giving your child the right chance?

DO you not marvel when thinking of the inward physical workings of your child—bone, flesh, muscle and brain growing each day—building onward toward manhood or womanhood?

Rich, red blood builds and sustains

Of course it is the blood stream which carries the millions of tiny red-cells to all parts of the body And it is the healthy, rich, red blood-cells that does this building, warding off disease and making for strong and healthy bodies

When a child's appetite wanes or he loses weight, the complexion becomes sallow or pimples and boils appear—then you instantly know that the inward mechanism is not working properly—that a good blood tonic is required

S S S builds sturdy health

In such cases S S S is the proper tonic It is made from fresh vegetable drugs—therefore will not harm the most delicate system It improves the appetite and restores the red blood cells to normal, lost weight is regained, skin eruptions clear up and color returns to the cheeks

Give your child the right chance to develop You will not regret it in later years

For more than 100 years, S S S has been helping children and their elders regain strength and vitality.

All good drug stores sell S S S in two sizes Ask for the larger size. It is more economical

The REFRIGERATOR of the FUTURE

Mechanism on top, hermetically sealed never needs oiling . . quiet, all steel, cannot warp . . . electrically operated.

$215
At the Factory
with conveniently spaced payments

THE same group of engineers and scientists who perfected the hermetically sealed mechanism of the General Electric Refrigerator, now have designed and produced an all steel refrigerator cabinet—the first all-steel refrigerator ever built!

It is a small family model—entirely of steel—strong and durable as a safe. It has no wood in it. It cannot warp No cold can seep out, no heat can creep in

Quantity production and the employment of the most efficient manufacturing methods have made possible this very low price—$215, at the factory Never before has any single refrigerator been built in such great quantities . . never before has such high quality been available at such a low price

You will readily understand why this has been called "the refrigerator of the future" when you examine it yourself and compare it carefully with all others. Be sure to come in and see it This, or any model, may be purchased on easy payments

Listen in on the General Electric Hour broadcast every Saturday evening 9 to 10 Eastern Standard Time over N B C network of forty-two stations.

This easily accessible regulator mounted on the top of each General Electric Refrigerator makes it possible for you to speed up the freezing of ice cubes whenever desirable

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Strawberries now on Marion markets, imported of course, are selling at the fancy price of 27 cents a pint. However, a few of these berries mixed with strawberry flavored gelatine can be made into delicious tarts at reasonable cost.

The berries, though high in price are of good quality, and quite tasty. Their price will remain at high level until the influx of local berries on the market drives the prices down.

Hamburg dropped two cents, to 25 cents this morning.

Head lettuce now sells three for 25 cents. It furnishes a very fresh crisp salad, if served with dressing. A fair-sized head will serve several people making the price a reasonable one.

Leaf lettuce is also used some as a salad, but is more popular as a garnish for meat dishes, etc. Its price is two pounds for 25 cents.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 4—Wheat prices suffered a severe setback yesterday on the local exchange in a market which was featured by a lack of buying power, being technically weakened by heavy short covering the previous day. Fair weather, favorable crop news and lack of export demand discouraged holders. Similar factors and the weakness in wheat caused substantial decline in other grains.

Profit taking by shorts and buying by holders of privileges brought a rally from the low, but wheat prices closed 1 1-2@1 7-8c lower for the day. Corn was 1 1-2@2c lower; oats, 1-4@1-2c off, and rye, 1 5-8@2 1-8c lower. Winnipeg wheat futures finished 1 1-4@1 3-8c lower.

Wheat Longs Tired

Steady selling in a tired and weak cash market run prices into stop-loss order and wheat values declined rapidly. Weather was more favorable over the belt, Liverpool was weaker than due, closing unchanged to 3-8c higher and the better export demand expected after the holidays showed no indication of developing. A little business in durums with the United Kingdom was reported, but demand was very quiet.

Bearish sentiment is growing daily. While theoretically bearish factors are discounted, the extremely favorable conditions surrounding the growing crop, coupled with the approach of Southwest harvest time, brings increased attention to bear upon the huge stocks which, with a lack of export demand, remain without material decrease despite a lightening movement. Bradstreet's compilation of world's available supplies showed a decrease of only 158,000 bu for the week. Developments in farm relief legislation show no drastic change of policy.

Wheat Stocks Large

Under this situation there is a natural tendency to translate stocks into terms of carry-over—a process which at present, in view of the slow demand and promise of another large crop, is highly disconcerting to the holder. This was exemplified yesterday in the attention paid to a report from Kansas City, which showed wheat stocks double their usual size at this time of the year and all grain stocks the highest on record, with a slow demand and prices still 8c from an export basis.

Attention was called to the probably critical situation should demand continue to run only very slightly above receipts, with new crop arrivals only two and a half months away and elevator space lacking.

Some large long lines also went into the corn pit, uncovering stop loss liquidation. There was even less buying power in this market, and the rally before the close was not as large as in wheat.

The basis was steady in the cash market; local industries were the principal buyers, taking the poor grades, and shipping demand was not as brisk, with sales of only 55,000 bu. Speculative interest in corn is lacking on both sides of the market, with futures trading still largely a merchandising affair.

In the cash market wheat was unchanged to 2c off, corn steady to 1c off, oats unchanged to ½c down, rye dull and barley steady.

Cars inspected: Wheat, 15; corn, 177; oats, 29; rye, 5; and barley, 6.

ISSUES MORE THAN REGAIN ALL LOSSES

Volume of Trade at Lower Prices Is of Small Proportions

RECOVERY IS DECISIVE

U. S. Steel, General Motors and Other Leaders Join in Comeback

BY W. S. COUSINS

NEW YORK, April 4—Industrial stocks rimed up after an irregular opening today, recovering the bulk of them early losses and a little to spare. The usual Thursday "bank statement" talk filtered through the financial district, and the prolonged meeting of the Reserve bank heads at Washington was of no particular comfort to the bulls.

The brokers' loan statement is due after the close of the market today, and Wall Street looks for another shrinkage in the loan total, though no one can be sure of such things in times like the present.

The oil, copper and specialty stocks started the day at a lower range of prices, with values down 1 to 3 points from Tuesday's close, but the volume of trading at the low prices was comparatively small, and within the next hour or so a good rally was in evidence in important sections of the list.

Register Gains

United States Steel at 182 showed a gain of 2 points from the opening price, General Motors was up 2 and Baldwin Locomotive at the head of the specialties, rose 9 points to 267.

Wall Street reported that money was flowing into the financial district in good volume, and, while the renewal rate was posted at 10 per cent, it was expected to drop before the end of the day. Washington dispatches indicated that no "action" had been recommended by the Reserve bank heads, either on rediscount rates or on the cutting down of bank loans in the Speculative market. Refusal of the small bulls to be sold out at current prices has been the most important factor in holding the market to its course.
